

My Dream Job

I want to be a dancer when I grow up. The famous dancer Liu Yu has been my role model for many years. I hope I can be a good dancer like him one day.

I want to be a dancer because dancing helps me express my feelings. I like watching dance performances. I am good at staying on beat and moving my body with the music. I started learning dancing when I was seven. I am interested in all kinds of dance. I like learning about Chinese dance because it shows the traditional Chinese culture. It tells us those old stories. I hope I can bring joy and beauty to people through dancing.

If I become a dancer, I will perform on big stages and show my skills to the audience on the stage. Also, I will teach children to dance and create new dance choreography.

To be a successful dancer, I need to be hard-working and creative. I think dancers also need to be passionate and persistent because these can help us progress. I will take dancing class every day so that I can improve my skills.

If I become a famous dancer one day, I will feel excited and proud.
