

A Strange Dream

Vincent had a strange dream last night. The dream was about Vincent becoming a Superman. When he woke up, he saw a Superman suit near his bed. He was shocked and said, 'Who gives me the Superman suit? I will put it on.' Vincent was happy. He wore the Superman suit and looked into the mirror. He said, 'I look good and I am full of power.' Vincent tried to lift a table and he did it! Vincent said, 'Wow! It's unbelievable! If I have this power, I will be a superhero.'

Vincent said, 'The Superman in the movie can fly. Maybe I can fly too!' Vincent tried to fly. At first, he did not know how to fly. When he posed the same gesture of Superman, he flew up!

Vincent said, 'That's fun! I will get out of the house and fly in the sky.' Vincent flew in the sky. When he flew over a bank, he saw a robber running out of the bank. He said, 'Oh no. I need to save the bank.' Vincent flew to the bank and used his strong power to catch the robber. The robber said, 'Who are you? Let me go!' Vincent said, 'You will never escape because I am Superman.'

In the end, Vincent became the hero of the country. Vincent also knew the truth. The old Superman didn't have special power anymore. He needed to find a new Superman. It was not a dream. It was a challenge for the new Superman. And then, Vincent became the new Superman and the old Superman had a holiday on the moon.
